Third-party recipients of personal data

Feyr Law may share personal data with the following (categories of) third parties:

1. External service providers: such as IT hosting providers, e-mail providers, software suppliers, cloud suppliers, bailiffs, courier services, external lawyers and/or solicitors, translation agencies and accountants, under strict contractual conditions that protect personal data in accordance with data protection legislation;
2. Counterparties: (and their solicitors or advisers) in the context of the agreed services;
3. Courts and government agencies (including regulators): in connection with the agreed services, or with your consent;

4. Law enforcement, judicial or regulatory authorities: if we believe that disclosure is necessary (i) under applicable law or regulation, (ii) to exercise, establish or defend our legal rights, or (iii) to protect your vital interests or those of another person;
5. Legal successors: (and their solicitors or advisers) where Feyr Law is acquired by or merges with another firm, or in the event of the insolvency of Feyr Law.
6. The external complaints officer: Ms E.A.M. van Lierop of Taylor Wessing N.V. for the purpose of handling and resolving complaints.
7. A substitution lawyer: Ms E.A.M. van Lierop of Taylor Wessing N.V., when the substitution arrangement has been activated in the exceptional case that Mr F.C.M. Leentfaar of Feyr Law is unable to provide legal services due to force majeure.
8. Third parties: other than the aforementioned categories of recipients, if you have given your consent.

Transfer to third countries and organisations

Feyr Law only stores and processes data within the European Union and has made contractual and organisational agreements to this effect with, among others, IT hosting providers, email providers, software suppliers and cloud providers.

Where personal data is transferred to countries or organisations outside the European Union in the context of the provision of services, Feyr Law ensures that this is only to countries and organisations where an adequate level of data protection can be guaranteed, for example by means of an adequacy decision by the European Commission, or by appropriate safeguards, such as a model contract, a code of conduct, certification or so-called binding corporate rules (BCR);

Retention periods

Feyr Law does not retain personal data in an identifiable form for longer than is necessary for the purposes set out in this privacy policy, but in any case for as long as is necessary to comply with statutory retention obligations. More specifically, the following periods are observed:

For the storage and archiving of files, Feyr Law complies with the current general legal rules on file storage as published on the website of the Dutch Bar Association (Nederlandse Orde van Advocaten): closing and archiving files. On this basis, files are stored for at least 5 years after closure.

Data processed by Feyr Law pursuant to Section 52 of the General Tax Act is retained for 7 years after the end of the relevant tax year.

Where a complaint has been lodged against Feyr Law, data processed in the context of the complaint handling procedure in accordance with the Feyr Law B.V. Office Complaints Procedure will be deleted no later than 2 years after the complaint or any resulting legal proceedings have been concluded.

Where necessary to protect a legitimate interest of Feyr Law, a decision may be made to extend the above periods.

Data security

Feyr Law has taken appropriate technical and organisational measures to protect personal data against unauthorised or unlawful processing, and against loss or destruction, damage, alteration or disclosure of this data. For further information about the security of personal data, please contact Feyr Law at kantoor@feyr.law.

Your rights

As a data subject within the meaning of the GDPR, you have various rights with regard to the processing of your personal data by Feyr Law. To exercise these rights, please contact Feyr Law:

You may exercise the following rights in this manner:

1. The right to request whether Feyr Law processes your personal data and, if so, to access this personal data and further information about the processing of your personal data;
2. The right to rectify your personal data if you believe it to be incorrect or incomplete;
3. The right to have your personal data erased, known as the 'right to be forgotten'
4. The right to restrict the processing of this data;
5. The right to withdraw your previously given consent to the processing of your personal data, if the processing by Feyr Law is based on consent.
6. The right to receive or transfer your personal data to a third party designated by you, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format.
7. The right to object to the processing of your personal data.

You also have the right not to be subject to automated individual decision-making, including profiling. Feyr Law does not use such automated decision-making.

When you have submitted a request to exercise one of the above rights, Feyr Law may ask you for additional information in order to verify your identity.

Feyr Law will confirm receipt of your request as soon as possible and will, in principle, respond to it within one month. It may take longer to respond to your request. In that case, Feyr Law may extend the period by another two months. Feyr Law will inform you of this within one month of receiving your request.
